

Ed Wu (aka Hui-Feng Wu) Biography

Ed Wu is the Corporate Executive VP of Foxconn (145 billion USD revenue in 2015). He is also the Chairman of Board of Ennoconn (in Taiwan Stock Exchange) and Ingrasys (2 billion USD revenue in 2015).

In this role, he oversees product strategy and business development across cloud business and industrial computing.

Ed joined Foxconn in 2001 and built the server and storage business at Foxconn . Now Foxconn is the largest server/storage manufacturing company in the world.

Before joining Foxconn, Ed spent four years as engineering VP at Kallix Corporation in Boston .Prior to Kallix, Ed Spent 20 years at Digital Equipment Corporation(DEC) in a variety of engineering positions (PDD-11, VAX, Alpha, X86) in Massachusetts.

Ed started his career as an electrical engineering at GE New York State in 1976 right after graduated from Ohio State University.

Ed holds a Master Degree of Electrical Engineering (MSEE) from Ohio State University in 1976.